2016 DOUBLE DISSOLUTION ELECTION - ENVIRONMENTAL COMMENTARY

Providing expert opinion and insight on environmental policy, Perth-based thought leader and strategist Dr Anthony Horton is available for commentary and consultation during the imminent 2016 Australian double-dissolution election.

With a thorough understanding of the science behind environmental issues and its real-world implications, in addition to the politics that surround it in both domestic Australian and international contexts, Anthony is a highly sought-after consultant who regularly travels throughout Australasia as an environmental advisor to international government bodies and business corporations.

Actively analysing and commentating upon the Australian political landscape with respect to environmental, economic, health and social issues, Anthony is in an informed position to assess and explain the ramifications of any proposals or policies presented. He is available for interview across all channels including written press, social media, radio and television; plus will be sharing his knowledge and expertise on topics raised by the campaigning parties via his blog and twitter feed.

Exemplifying his relevant and articulate approach, Anthony's written commentary is available for view on his website. Please click the links below to read his last two articles, entitled:

- "It's never been a better time for Australian companies to look to China for jobs and growth"
- "How much international media attention will it take to get direct action and protect the Great Barrier Reef?"

If you would like to enhance your communications by providing your audience with analysis and reflection from one of the most qualified and impartial environmental experts in the world, Anthony welcomes your requests for commentary on any environmental subjects of discussion raised during the 2016 Australian Double Dissolution Election.
